The Miracle of an Ordinary Life

As I sit at my computer writing this Pastoral Nugget, it occurs to me that I live a very ordinary life. Some would even call it boring.

After my prayer time, I got up this morning and fixed myself breakfast. I then went to the gym and exercised for about forty minutes. I came home and fed the dogs, returned the trash can from the street to its normal place, and got ready to come to my office. Before leaving home I went into my home office and took care of some business associated with the other ministry I do: Fresh Fire Ministries. I then embarked on my commute from Hogansville to LaGrange, communicating with people along the way. When I arrived at my office I engaged in my ordinary job duties. This afternoon I will go home and meet my lovely wife. We will then try to figure out what to eat for supper. We will play the "I Chose Last Time" game. After that, I may attend a church service somewhere, study, write articles, prepare sermons, watch TV, checkout Facebook, talk with the kids and grandkids, speak with some pastor or parishioner regarding a church problem, or take a nap in my recliner before retiring to bed. As I said, it's an ordinary life - that some would call boring.

When we think of miracles, we don't think in terms like I described above. Miracles to us mean Jesus feeding five thousand people at once, restoring the sight to the blind, causing the deaf to hear, the dumb to speak, and raising people from the dead. Perhaps you can think of a thousand different things you would consider miraculous - that you want God to bring to pass in your life.

If the truth be known, we think of miracles as the huge, cataclysmic things God does. For example, we view Jesus' feeding five thousand people as a miracle. Was it? Really? Jesus feeds millions and millions of people every day. So, when you think of it in those terms, no, it wasn't that miraculous.

The miraculous part was that He condensed the time frame and employed different methods to accomplish the miracle.

So, let me ask you a question: Which is the bigger miracle, the fact that God does something cataclysmic in our lives, or the miracle of an ordinary life that He gives us every day?

Consider this with me: God woke us up this morning. He didn't have to do that. Many folk went to bed last night expecting to wake up in their beds, but woke up in eternity. We have reasonably good minds and health. We have a home and a bed. We have food and clothes. We have a job. We have transportation. We have heat in the winter and AC in the summer. We have friends and family who love us, warts and all. And most importantly, we have a Savior Who loves us, cares for us, and gives us purpose and meaning as we traverse this short span of time we call life.

We are human. We will go through our day today with laughter and tears. We will experience both frustration and contentment. We will experience disappointment with others, and they with us. We will experience joy. In short, we will experience life - a normal ordinary life.

So, after experiencing all an ordinary life has to throw at us today, when we lay down tonight let us be sure to thank God that He chose to give us this miracle of an ordinary life. Let us be thankful that we aren't standing beside someone in a hospital, hospice center, a funeral home, or a police station seeking God for a cataclysmic miracle. Be thankful for the miracle of an ordinary life!

Dunson - The WMU Group sponsored a Valentine Banquet on February 10. There were approximately 100 people in attendance. The Royal Rangers and Girls Impact Ministry members served spaghetti plates and drinks to each table, gave out door prizes and cleaned up after the meal as part of a service project. Carol Cain, nationally recognized storyteller, was their entertainment. Carol is from a large family in Hogansville and storytelling came naturally to her. Laughter and good Christian fellowship were in abundance as she related tales of growing up in a small town, Sunday mornings at her house, and all the songs she learned in Sunday School. She closed with the fact that salvation is a gift and all we have to do is invite Jesus into our hearts. • On February 21, Dunson held a Sunday School Preparation Meeting presented by Philip McClung of Rosemont Baptist Church. Dunson is preparing to reach out to as many people as possible with the gospel of Jesus Christ and has received volunteers from other churches to come and help with this mission outreach. They are still seeking volunteers willing to help in Sunday School monthly or bi-monthly.

Unity - Unity Baptist Church is taking the charge from the GBMB with "The Big Invite" and is using it as a new beginning for the church as well. We have taken this plan to get more people to church on Easter as a new direction for evangelism in our community. The numbers are staggering when you break down the amount of people who have never been invited to church but would be willing to attend if someone asked. So we are using this plan to put in place some actions of our own to reach people who have never been reached. This is bringing about some changes (for the good) within our church, and we are really excited about them! We are doing some planning involving a new service that will be starting up soon. We are making some changes to the building and our outreach and greeting teams. We are really focusing on loving people in Christ and making our church a safe, Godly, exciting place to come and worship and fellowship. While Easter is our starting point, "The Big Invite" is really going to be a jumping-off point to help us focus on spreading Christ to those who don't know Him locally. We are also looking for musicians to come and be a part of the new service we are starting. It is a really exciting time for us to be able to add a new service in a different setting. • Our food closet serves anywhere from 80 to 120 people every month. This ministry has been a blessing to us in so many ways. We are able to minister to those in need and have been able to bring people to the church so that they can come to know God here at Unity. We love everybody who comes to the food closet, and we are so blessed to be able to provide this ministry to so many people.

On The Lighter Side

Two robins were sitting in a tree. "I'm really hungry," said the first one. "Me too," said the second. "Let's fly down and find some lunch." They flew to the ground and found a nice plot of plowed ground full of worms. They ate and ate and ate until they could eat no more. "I'm so full I don't think I can fly back up to the tree," said the first one. "Me neither. Let's just lay here and bask in the warm sun," said the second. They plopped down, basking in the sun. No sooner than they had fallen asleep, when a big fat tomcat snuck up and gobbled them up. As the cat sat washing his face after his meal, he thought, "I just love 'baskin' robins."
