Jackson Scott sharing his testimony at Davidson Baptist Church

A Thanksgiving Miracle

Marianne and I visited Davidson Baptist Church in West Point, Georgia on December 1. We had the privilege of meeting Jackson Scott and hearing his story. Jackson is the son of Rev. Joel and Misti Scott. For thirteen weeks Jackson has been confined to a wheelchair, with no use of his legs. This started when Jackson had a seizure as a result of Alpha-gal, an allergy to red meat. For thirteen weeks, Jackson had been to doctors at the University of Alabama, Eggleston Children's Hospital in Atlanta, and others. All to no avail! The doctors were baffled. They did not know what to do. On Thanksgiving Day, Jackson read in his morning devotional that "God was going to cause good things to happen to him today." Inexplicably, his legs started working! The doctors said it was medically impossible. BUT GOD!!! Below, you will see photos of Jackson, holding his walker over his head and standing tall. What a blessing this 12-year-old boy was to Marianne and me today! Praise the Lord!

Hogansville First

Above: On October 31, Trunk or Treat was moved indoors due to inclement weather, but that did not dampen the fun. About 500 people (children & adults) came through the fellowship hall. It was a tremendous blessing and a wonderful opportunity for outreach in the community. "We thank everyone who participated in this event."
